
FIGHTS SUSPENSION

Suspension Appeal Date Set in D.C.

A Daly City police officer, who has appealed a two-day suspension for being hatless while on duty, will be heard by the city's Personnel Board May 21.

Dennis Prator, a patrolman, has questioned the severity of the penalty for breach of the Police Department's uniform code.

The Personnel Board last week set the public hearing date after an appearance by Prator's legal counsel.

According to Police Lt. Thomas Culley, Prator was suspended Feb. 15-16 for an Oct. 4 incident. He said Prator was seen leaving a restaurant, while on duty, without wearing his police hat.

According to the department's standard operating procedures manual, police hats are required to be worn "save when off duty at the station, or when it is not possible to wear a hat inside a radio car or when a well-conducted man would remove his hat."

The suspension was ordered by Police Chief David Hansen.

Police Zero In on Rapist

A man suspected of committing a number of rapes in the Bay Area now is believed to be operating in North County, San Bruno police said Tuesday.

Dubbed the "parking lot rapist," the man is believed to be responsible for a rape which began in the Bayhill Shopping Center in San Bruno last Friday, and for an attempted rape beginning at the Tanforan Park Shopping Center Monday afternoon.

The man also is believed to be responsible for a rape in Daly City Monday.

Since July of last year, the parking lot rapist is suspected of committing crimes from San Jose to San Rafael. The number of rapes and attempted rapes could number as high as two dozen, say San Bruno police.

In addition, according to Police Chief Frank Hedley, there may be a number of other rapes or attempted rapes which have gone unreported because of hesitancy of the part of the victims.

Besides the two recent incident in San Bruno, the man is suspected of committing a rape in the city last July 11, another in December, and attempting to rape a woman in San Bruno last month.

The man usually operates in the same fashion according to Lt. Hugh Fraser.

"He approaches an attractive female inside the shopping center and tells her that her car was involved in a hit-and-run or an accident. He says his wife has the license number of the hit-and-run vehicle and that she,s waiting in the parking lot,, Fraser said.

"Once they have reached the victim's car, the man usually says his wife must have gone in the shopping center. He then offers to test drive the vehicle to ascertain any damages.

"If there is no apparent damage to the vehicle, the

Daly City Denies Claims

A formal complaint that Daly City has violated federal Comprehensive Education and Training Act regulations is in final negotiations involving San Mateo County, the city and Local 919 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Fran David, director of the county's employment training and manpower division, said a decision should be reached on the grievance filed by AFSCME in a week.

George Popyack, AFSCME's business agent, filed with the county several months ago a letter of complaint which charges a violation of Section 99.35 of federal CETA regulations.

"Daly City has reduced the number of budgeted positions while replacing these positions with CETA funded positions," Popyack wrote.

He contended that the positions of Library Assistant, I, Librarian I, Civil Engineer I, garage technician, parks utility worker and streets utility worker "have been deleted from the city budget."

Assistant City Manager Raymond Letsinger, in a lengthy letter to the manpower division, denies the claim.

Daly City last July 1 received more than $2 million in CETA funding and currently has a total employment level of 190 persons participating in the program. About 111 of the CETA employees are utilized in city functions, while the remainder have been placed in other agencies operating within the city, including the Jefferson Union High School District and the Jefferson Elementary School District, he said.

If Daly City is judged by the county to be in violation of the CETA regulations, it could jeopardize the CETA funding, although such an extreme penalty as loss of funding probably would not be imposed, according to officials.

Letsinger contends that:

• The city "in the past 13 fiscal year budgets has never had a library assistant one position" and that the city lost its librarian one at Bayshore through attrition.

"No CETA employee has . . . been assigned at the Bayshore Branch Library to assume her duties.

• The Civil Engineer I position has been authorized to be filled "in the near future . . . has never been budgeted as a CETA position."

• The garage serviceman position was deleted, but replaced "by an addition of two higher-paying classifications in the motor vehicle division."

• The two parks and streets utility worker positions were deleted when

No DC Cable Rate Hike

Citing a network of continuing problems with Vista Grande Cablevision, Daly City's City Council Monday night rejected the franchise company's request for a rate increase and continued its probationary status for a year.

"It has not been City Council's position to reward inefficiency," City Attorney Albert Polonsky suggested during a lengthy report on the company's request.

Vista Grande, which has held the city cable television franchise since 1972, wants to raise its monthly subscriber rates from $6.25 to $8.75.

In addition, the company sought to impose a converter rental fee of $1 per month and one-time converter deposit fee of $30 per subscriber. A connection fee of $20 for each new customer also was requested.

The company also sought removal of probation on which City Council placed it late in 1976 after considerable public complaint alleging poor service.

The 1½-hour public hearing, which attracted about 40 persons, started with Vista Grande attorney Harold Farrow protesting that the company needed more time to study the report submitted by the city's consultant, Telecommunications Management Corp. of Los Angeles.

"We've had this report less than a week," Farrow complained, requesting that meetings between the city staff, consultant and Vista Grande be set up for discussion of the report.

Farrow's suggestion got a poor reception, however.

Mayor William Schumacher pointed out that "any discussion that is to be done will take place at a public hearing and not at a staff level. You are the moving party. It is incumbent upon you to come forward and present your facts."

Farrow then said the company would merely submit its report and ask for a continuance of the public hearing.

Polonsky presented a lengthy summary of the consultant's finding which included the following:

• Vista Grande's cost per mile of construction averaged $29,300, while other cablevision companies in the Bay Area average $10,000 to $15,000.

• No evidence was presented by the company "to show why construction costs are so high in Daly City."

• Vista Grande is in debt to its parent company, Tele-Communication Inc., $5,389,980 and the debt, which keeps growing, is used by the parent company to its tax advantage.

• The proposed monthly charge (including the converter rental fee) of $9.75 is higher than subscribers pay in most other areas.

• The company has not sought to improve its financial situation by obtaining new subscribers.

• Vista Grande has not abided by some franchise conditions, such as connecting all Daly City schools.

Polonsky also said that although subscriber complaints have not been as numerous during the last 1½ years, Vista Grande failed to present evidence that would permit removal of the company from probation.

"The quality of service is very, very important," he said. "If the company does not watch over its system, the consumer will be dissatisfied with reception and service."

A resident, Gordon Mann, said he lives in the Blossom Valley area and has been unable to subscribe to the cablevision service.

Computer Buffs See Dividends in 'Super' Broadmoor Restart

Broadmoor's Police Department has enthusiastically entered the computer age.

Police Chief William Noonan said the department got a bonus with the recent hiring of Patrolman Daryl Jones.

Jones not only is a police officer, but a computer buff as well. So is Noonan.

So the chief and Jones are putting together a management information network for the department, utilizing Jones' computer equipment.

The system, when completed, will contain information relating to the seven Broadmoor officers, staffing patterns, uniform allowances, overtime and other personnel aspects.

The system eventually will include information relating to criminal records, but only when the system is located fully within the Broadmoor department. Right now there's only one terminal at the 88th Street building.

Noonan said the system, which both men are spending most of their off-duty hours constructing, will speed up both police work and internal management.

However, starting the system was one of the lesser activities of the first month of reorganization, Noonan explained.

Since the small department in the unincorporated area of 7,000 persons resumed operation March 1, Noonan reported, the force has worked 250 cases, ranging from a domestic murder to five incidents classified as "malicious mischief."

Other cases included 65 incidents of disturbing the peace and assault and battery, 10 instances of grand and petty theft and 14 burglaries.

Noonan said the department recovered about $5,249 worth of stolen property. Losses of $14,699 were reported during March.

The police department resumed operations after contracting with other police agencies for more than a year when the Broadmoor Police Commission obtained insurance.

Noonan said the first month of providing services to the district went "super."

SamTrans' Pacifica Routes Are Revamped

Spurred by complaints about lack of service or lack of direct service during commute hours, the San Mateo County Transit District has revamped some Pacifica routes and schedules effective May 1.

Five direct trips between the isolated Park Pacifica neighborhoods and the Daly City BART station will be offered during weekday rush hours, bringing the total to 25 trips a day from the Coastside to the BART station.

During weekday commute hours, routes 10T, via Terra Nova Boulevard, Aspen Drive and Linda Mar Boulevard, and 10L, from Park Pacifica via Linda Mar, will offer express service without layover at Linda Mar. The off-peak hour runs will continue to transfer at Linda Mar.

Route 10T will have two express trips, at 6:45 and 7:15 a.m. starting from Aspen and Terra Nova.

Rouse 10L will have three express trips, starting from Glacier Avenue and Cape Breton Drive, at 7, 7:30 and 8 a.m.

In the afternoon the Route 10T return express will run at 4:25, 4:40, 5:05 and 5:35, with one express trip on 10L from the BART station at 5:20.

There will be no changes in the Saturday schedule of routes 10T and 10L.

Route 10T will offer 13 trips a day weekdays from Park Pacifica through the Palisades. Commuters closer to Highway 1 also can catch Coast routes IL and 1C three times a day from Linda Mar or the 1H and 1A buses coming up from Half Moon Bay.

Other Coastside schedule changes effective May 1 will include:

Route 20J, Skyline College to Mission and Templeton streets in Daly City, will discontinue its 9:45 a.m. weekday run from Skyline to BART and add a 10:15 a.m. trip;

Route 10S, from Linda Mar to Serramonte, will begin weekday service from Linda Mar at 8:45 a.m. and end at 3:45 p.m. instead of 8:25 a.m. and 3:55 p.m., respectively. From Serramonte, service will begin at 9:23 a.m. and end at 4:30 p.m. instead of 9:05 a.m. and 4:35 p.m. The mid-day schedule also will be cut from half-hourly to hourly.

Route 30B, from Palmetto Avenue and West Manor Drive in Pacifica to Skyline College and Tanforan Shopping Center in San Bruno, will end eastbound service Saturdays at 5:45 p.m. instead of 6:15 p.m.

New timetables will be available on the buses at City Hall, Mode O'Day and Linda Mar Jewelers in Pacifica.

Youth Slain, Mother Held

A 12-year-old South San Francisco boy was found dead under a stack of books by his sister Saturday afternoon, apparently having died as a result of multiple stab wounds, police said today.

Arrested and held for investigation of homicide is the boy's mother, Carmine Borden, 36, of 230 Del Monte Ave., South San Francisco.

The boy, Joseph J. Borden, was a sixth-grade student at Buri Buri School.

The police said Mrs. Borden had been committed to Mary's Help Hospital on Friday morning for psychiatric observation after she was stopped by police while walking in a traffic lane in the 600 block of El Camino Real, apparently challenging traffic.

Police said she was carrying a steak knife at the time.

Then, police said, at 7:30 p.m. Friday, officers were called to the Del Monte Avenue residence after a neighbor had reported hearing noises coming from the home.

When police arrived, however, the residence was dark and no one responded to the officers when they knocked on the door.

Mrs. Borden had been released earlier from Mary's Help, police added.

At 9:30 p.m. Friday, the victim's father, Joseph Borden, 47, came home from work and discovered

Man Held in Knife Attack

A 23-year-old Daly City man has been held to answer in Superior Court on charges stemming from an April 5 incident in Daly City.

Willie Collis will appear in Superior Court in Redwood City on May 1 to answer to charges of assault with intent to commit murder, assault with a deadly weapon and burglary.

He had entered a not guilty plea to all counts in Northern Judicial District Municipal Court in South San Francisco.

Collis was arrested at the home of his estranged wife, Deborah, April 5 after he allegedly stabbed her with a kitchen knife.

Police said Collis had gone to the home at 179 Frankfort St. at 5:30 a.m. and asked to use the bathroom, which he did. He then allegedly remained until ordered to leave at 6:45 a.m., but returned just after 7, broke a front window and entered the house through it, police said.

Then he reportedly obtained a knife from the kitchen, dragged Mrs. Collis into the back yard and began stabbing her.

Police said they believed Collis to be living in his car at the time of the incident.

vacant due to budget considerations, but were not replaced with CETA workers.

Popyack, the union spokesman, could not be reached for comment.

Letsinger said a final negotiating session, scheduled for April 24 when Popyack returns from vacation, is expected to resolve the matter.

He said the county's grievance officer, Gary Bridges, had met separately with city officials and union representatives on the CETA matter before a meeting of the three parties was held Friday.

Letsinger said he expects a "mutual agreement" to resolve the question, rather than a "unilateral" decision.

suspect will indicate that he saw juveniles 'fooling with' the vehicle.

"Once they are in the car, the suspect pulls a knife and forces the victim to perform oral copulation prior to sexual intercourse."

The man's victims all have been white and between 18 and 31 years old. He operates usually from the early afternoon to the late evening.

He is described as Mexican, about 30 years old, 5 feet 11 inches tall, 180-190 pounds, with black wavy hair, brown eyes and a moustache.

Hedley described the man as "a very smooth guy with a very, very believable story."

San Bruno's Police Department has increased its patrols in the shopping centers, but Hedley indicated that because of the manner of operation of the rapist, "The situation isn't one in which you can employ a stakeout."

Hedley said a number of North County police departments will meet this week to discuss the rapist.

In only one of the reported rapes, Fraser said, has a vehicle been spotted. In that case, he said, it was described as an older car with maroon paint.

Hedley encouraged any women who believe they have been in contact with the parking lot rapist to call the Police Department. "And if they are in a situation where this occurs, call the Police Department, contact the store management...alert someone," the chief added.

His wife, he told police, had locked herself in her room. Borden also discoverd all the light fixtures in the house were disconnected, and the telephone lines were cut.

He then went to a neighbor's house and telephoned police.

When police arrived, Mrs. Borden apparently had locked the front door with a chain lock at which time firemen were called to cut the chain. Police then committed Mrs. Borden to Chope Community Hospital for psychiatric observation.

Borden told police that he was not concerned that neither his son nor his daughter was at home at the time, as they usually stayed with friends.

At 11:30 a.m. Saturday, the daughter, Deborah, also 12, and some friends went to the Del Monte Avenue residence to clean up.

It was at that time that the body was found and the daughter telephoned police.

Officers said apparently a butcher knife was used in the slaying.

Turmoil Costly

Turmoil in the Pacifica Youth Service Bureau has caused the organization to lose part of a $17,832 grant it received from the California Youth Authority to operate a vandalism reduction program.

YSB Board Chairman Beverly Martin said Friday that the state Youth Authority has asked the YSB to return the balance of the unused funds. Mrs. Martin did not know how much of the money remains.

She has set a meeting of the board for Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. at the YSB's office, 90 Paloma Ave., Pacifica, to discuss the matter. The meeting is open to the public.

Problems for the organization began last week when the state Attorney General ruled that it was incompatible for Mark Savage to serve as director of the YSB at the same time he served as a Pacifica city councilman.

D.C. Board Chief Named

James M. Roman, who was graduated from Westmoor High School in the Jefferson Union High School District 18 years ago, Tuesday was named president of the JUHSD Board of Trustees.

Trustee Ruth Boudihot nominated Roman to succeed board President Jane Powell. He was elected on a 3-0 vote.

Trustees George Robinson and Dr. John Sloane, both absent from the Tuesday meeting, also were named to board posts. Robinson was elected vice president and Sloane clerk of the board.

Roman, 35, has been on the board for two years and a resident of Pacifica since 1954. He lives at 807 Edgemar Ave.

The new board president is an engineer with Pacific Telephone.

Roman, who took Mrs. Powell's center seat to begin presiding over the meeting, joked, "Will I be smarter in that chair?"

As board president, Roman said he expects to "carry on business as usual, to strive for a solution to school financing problems, good education and good contracts with school employees."

In other business at the brief session, the board gave approval to the concept of seeking a $30,000 planning grant for Jefferson High School from the State Department of Education.

Ernest J. Ribera, assistant superintendent for education, told the board that he would complete the application to the state by April 14.

Boards Urged to Use Area Facilities

An Alternative In Preference To 'Plush' Sites

The San Mateo County Board of Education is urging trustees of individual school districts to use local facilities for the annual spring conference instead of the posh Quail Lodge in the Carmel Valley.

On March 7, two days after some 50 school board members from throughout the county attended a weekend conference at the Carmel site, Harold Purpus, chairman of the County Board of Education, wrote a letter asking that a less expensive meeting place be found in the future.

The letter was addressed to Kenneth Austin, president of the County School Board Association.

"The county board fully subscribes to the need for an annual meeting of the association," stated Purpus, "but feels our goals could be accomplished just as effectively by having a one-day meeting in San Mateo County.

"This becomes especially pertinent during this period of school cutbacks and taxpayer resistance."

Last month's weekend meeting was paid for with individual school district funds allocated for conferences. The cost for each trustee attending the meeting ranged from $82.50 to $87.50, depending on single or double occupancy.

Some school board members also received reimbursement for transportation.

The office of Dr. J. Russel Kent, county superintendent of schools, reported that several school districts, including Laguna Salada in Pacifica, have agreed that the conference site should be changed.

Austin said today the membership of the school board association is scheduled to discuss the Purpus letter at its next meeting, in May.

A majority of the association members had agreed, said Austin, that Quail Lodge would be the best place to hold the conference.

Way Cleared for Councilman To Build House in Colma

Colma's City Council has approved an amendment to its zoning ordinance which will allow Councilman Rich Vallerga to construct a house on a small parcel on Hillside Boulevard.

Vallerga abstained Wednesday from the 4-0 vote to rezone the property from G-1, agricultural, to G-2, residential.

The council's first reading approval was conditional on Vallerga making arrangements with South San Francisco for a sewer hook-up for the two-bedroom dwelling, council members noted.

Vallerga said he has not obtained permission for a connection yet. The council agreed not to approve the second reading until Vallerga presents evidence that he has done so.

Two residents of South San Francisco, Peter Samuelson and David Courtright, expressed concern about Vallerga's plans. Courtright, who lives across Hillside Boulevard from the property, said he would be opposed to any apartment or commercial development of the land.

Vallerga, who originally sought commercial zoning, said he planned to construct only a small dwelling.

In other business, the council continued a hearing on an environmental impact report on a proposed office building to be constructed by Don Seyranian of Daly City.

City Engineer Ed Smith told the council he needs time to study Seyranian's amended request for offices rather than a combination of offices and two stores.

The 2,570-square-foot building is proposed for construction at El Camino Real and D Street.

Resident Domenic Martini of D Street told the council he is concerned about parking and construction wall.

'Pockets Empty' Meet Scheduled by Cities

"Great Expectations with Pockets Empty" is the theme of a spring conference planned by the North San Mateo County Council of Cities.

Assemblyman Leo McCarthy, speaker of the state Assembly, will be the keynote speaker. Other speakers and panelists include Sen. Peter Behr, author of a property tax limitation proposal favored by state legislators; Attorney Charles Garry, one-time defender of the Black Panthers; Brisbane Mayor Jeannine Hodge; Millbrae Councilman Arthur Lepore; Daly City City Manager David Rowe; Half Moon Bay Councilwoman Helen Bedesem; and Marcy Ballard, president of the American Federation of Teachers.

Registration deadline is April 28. The cost is $15 per person, including lunch. Checks should be made payable to the City of Millbrae and sent to Elva Allen at the Millbrae City Hall, 621 Magnolia A4e., Millbrae 94030.

Ram-blings

By STEVE KAUFMAN

Westmoor High has caught the fever! Saturday Night Fever, that is. The disco dance on April 7 was an absolute success.

Over 300 students jammed the cafeteria and danced to the latest music as dots of colored lights projected from a mirror ball in the center of the room. The three-hour disco was highlighted by a dance contest and seven couples did routines.

THE WINNERS of the $50 first prize were Kevin Nidaza and Nellie Samson. Second place went to Melissa Cala and Paul Murillo, who collected $20. Jose Gonzalez and Mary Ellen Gonzalez took home the $10 third prize. Other participants in the contest were Robin Nieves and Louie Garcia, Sandy Moralez and Sergio Martinez, Debra Dunn and Phil Johnston and Tony Rivera and Merla Anders. Congratulations to all the winners and thanks to all who participated in the contest.

A special note of thanks should go to Kathy Bolton for all of the work she put into this event. She found out about it, contacted and hired the disco company and worked out the schedule of people who are going to work at the dance itself. Kathy, who is currently the commissioner of entertainment, did an outstanding job. Thanks!

KRAM, the school radio station was so inspired by the disco that it immediately decided to put one on itself April 28. The dance will be co-sponsored by the kids from the Close-Up program who will split any profits 50-50. Work already has begun and this should prove to be as good if not better than the one just held.

A FOG machine, a large mirror ball with many colored lights, and a fantastic acoustic system will accompany this dance. Also, records will be given away as prizes. Tickets will go on sale soon.

One science student at Westmoor has won the Baush and Lomb Science Award. Colleen Duggan was the lucky recipient of a handsome bronze medal for her outstanding achievements in the science program at Westmoor. She has taken physical science, biology, chemistry and physics and physiology and has done A work in all of them. She plans to continue her studies at University of California at Santa Cruz in the field of biochemistry and microbiology. Congratulations and best of luck to you.

WESTMOOR is having an "Open House" April 27 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. All classrooms in the school will be open and parents will get the opportunity to meet their kids' teachers and discuss the curriculum of the class.

Highlighting this important event will be a cake sale in the main hallway with all of the proceeds going to the freshman class. The PTA will help with the sale and work with the freshmen. If anyone would like to donate a cake, bring it to school the night of Open House and they will sell it then.

A PTA meeting is scheduled for that night beginning at 7:15 and adjourning at 7:30. Many thanks to this group of dedicated parents who help boost the school morale. Led by President Pat Oxenham, these parents play a vital role in the school helping to provide for some of the school's needs. I would like to thank them for all of their hard work.

APPLICATIONS for students wishing to go to either College of San Mateo or Skyline College arrived at Westmoor. Any student wishing to get one can pick them up in the counselor's hallway.

Students who ordered school rings finally got them April 14 after paying the balance due. They were given out fourth and fifth lunch periods and new orders with a $20 deposit were taken.

Inflation hs affected Westmoor once again. Due to the price of meat delivered to the cafeteria being increased, the prices of all sandwiches, burritos and enchiladas went up five cents.

A warning was issued to any student carrying firecrackers. They are prohibited by state law and any student in possession of them or is caught lighting them is subject to immediate suspension. Careful!

ANY SENIOR students who have slides or pictures regarding any senior activity is urged to submit them to the registrar, Mrs. Batori. They will be used as a promotional by Disneyland.

Filipino students interested in a medical career had an opportunity to explore the University of California's medical program in San Francisco recently when Cal's medical center had its annual orientation and recruitment day. Mr. Pisingan, the Filipino Club advisor, took signups. Hope all who went had a good time.

All petitions for the openings in the Student Advisory Council were due yesterday to Mr. Simon's office. Elections for this office are Thursday. Good luck to all who ran.

ANYONE interested in a summer weight conditioning program should sign up with Coach Matisi. five units of school credit are given for this course.

Hermanos Latinos is having a "Salso on the Green" on the lawn by the parking lot and will be featured both lunchtimes.It will include Latino food for students to try and will be highlighted by music by the group "Ritmo '74." It should prove to be a great event.

The California Scholarship Federation, Kennel Club, sophomore class, Planning Council, Filipino-American Club, Polynesian club and Hermanos Latinos had meetings last week.

The junior class is keeping busy organizing the senior advertising for next year. Advertisers run ads in the football and basketball programs and all money goes to the senior class. This is unusually an excellent fund-raiser. Businesses, be prepared for a visit from a junior this year!

CAREER DAY went great! Sixty-three speakers discussed jobs with students in three separate sessions. Congratulations to Mrs. Gross and Mr. Blancke for their hard work and thanks to all the speakers for their help.

Miss Daly City applications were delivered to Westmoor. Any girl interested in running must be 17 by June 30. See Mr. Simon in the counseling hallway for an application.

SPORTS — Westmoor's swim team is undefeated in the league, boasting a 4-0 record. They downed the team they were tied with, Terra Nova, and also beat the Sharks of Oceana. They also won against South San Francisco, 103-68 and outswam Carlmont High, 86-84. Keep up the good work!

Among the outstanding swimmers are Jem Stockman in the 100-yard butterfly and the freestyle relay; Brett Beetle, the freshmen sensation who has amazed crowds by posting fantastic times in the 100-yard breaststroke and the 200-yard individual medley. His brother, Bill, who just recovered from a bout with pneumonia, is doing great in the 50-yard freestyle. Also, Tim Horn, Mark Barraddas, Tammi Stuckert and Ken Nolan have been doing well.

Westmoor's track team beat Terra Nova in a meet and have been keeping busy with Oceana and Jefferson.

Practice for next year's cheerleaders is off to a great start. Their first meeting was March 27.

The Youth Employment Program sent out forms recently for the students who want summer jobs. YEP gives jobs out to youths between the ages of 14 and 21.

AT THE Buchser Relays in Santa Clara April 8 the Jefferson track team took a total of 16 medals and four ribbons. The highest placing varsity team went to the distance medley, which took third in a fine time of 11:24. The team consisted of Gilbert Dean (mile), Ralph Gowen (880), Doug Levy (440) and Glenn Dean (1,320). This team won its heat, but the other heat had two faster times.

The Indians' freshmen team was absolutely outstanding. Their 440 relay team of Tim Stathes, Lance Martin, Barris Mitchell and Brian Patton won a gold. The 880 relay team with the same members also won. The mile relay team also won the gold. This team consisted of Stathes, Mitchell, Erie Dupree and Bob Posey.

The varsity high hurdle shuttle relay took fourth with a team of all underclassmen: Tabby Davenport, a junior, and three sophomores, Robert Thompson, Dwight Wilson and Doug Levy.

The CSF 1978 Central Coast Regional Conference this year was at Mills High School, April 8. Attending this event were more than 35 different schools from the Central Coastal area of California. Among these were six CSF'ers from Jefferson High. The were Maria Valavanis, Linda Lee, Sharon Gowen, Joey Grambow, Steve McBee, Jerel Grambow and advisor Al Sinor.

The convention was thoroughly interesting. Guest speakers were introduced and a short program discussing the day's agenda was presented.

AS THE day moved on, everyone was directed to certain lectures concerning subjects pertaining to "Earthquake Awareness," "Cardiac Pulmonary Resuscitation" and "The Human Body: Mind and Matter."

After lunch entertainment was by comedian Mark McCullum.

The last event was "Almost Anything Goes." There were relays (six on a team) such as tire stacking, the sack race and dressing against the clock.

JEFFERSON'S proud CSF members were honored to have taken third place in the overall events.

Jefferson's CSF had its candy sale April 3-14. With the profit made, CSF plans to organize a camping trip for three days.

The Jefferson Student Government had an election April 10 to elect three representatives who will attend Site Council meetings. The representatives are Rebecca Calder, Tani Empleo and Sharon Gowen. The first meeting was April 13.

THE COMMITTEE consists of our reps and six parents and six staff members. Principal Richard Burt feels we stand a good chance of being presented with the help we need to improve the school. The committee will be sending an application to the state asking for help in improving the school even more.

Recently our Career Center had a meeting at which it was host to a guest from San Francisco City College. She explained the many programs on dental assisting offered at City College. It was very interesting and thorough. She explained and answered questions all about dentistry and how we could go about enrolling in a program at SFCC.

The Career Center had many speakers on its agenda for last week. These included a counselor from San Francisco State to discuss openings available there, and to encourage Filipinos to come; and a representative from the Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandising.

THE JUNIOR/SENIOR Prom will be April 22 at the St. Francis Hotel. The band this year is "Sass." The bids are $15 and this year's theme is "Always and Forever," sung by Heatwave.

Speaking about the Prom, recently there was a tuxedo show for all of the guys who are going to be there. The show was put on by Grodin's in the Little Theater. Sample tuxes were modeled and the presentation was a hit.

Tryouts for graduation speaker were this Thursday during second period in the Little Theater. Anyone who wished to speak at the graduation ceremony had to attend this meeting. The results will be posted. Good luck to all who tried out!

CONGRATULATIONS TO Glenn Dean for breaking the record for the most Block J's ever earned by an individual. The old record of eight was established by Hector Vargas. Glenn presently has nine blocks and will probably receive one or two more by the end of this year. Glenn's twin brother, Gilbert, currently has eight blocks and should be receiving two more also by the end of the year. The twins accomplished this feat by participating in cross-country, tennis and track. Way to go, guys!!!

NPL Sports Falter for Lack of Coaches

Le Pacini

The dropping of six North Peninsula League sports (frosh-soph baseball, frosh-soph football, JV soccer, varsity and JV wrestling, water polo and girls' varsity and JV gymnastics) was brought about almost as much because of the shortage of willing, qualified coaches as by direct financial problems.

A man has to really love coaching to do it at the high school level, because the monetary rewards are at best honorary. Bob Brandi, the Jefferson High varsity baseball coach, provides an apt example. Last year he kept a log of exactly how many hours he put into the Jeff baseball program, divided those hours by the $600 pay he got for coaching from the Jefferson Union High School District, and discovered that he had made not quite 15 cents an hour.

HE'LL continue coaching baseball at Jeff because he loves it, but that kind of dedication is becoming rarer and rarer in the new society of get-rich-quick jocks, and so segments of many prep athletic programs inevitably will die.

Should the Jarvis-Gann tax initiative pass, even dedicated coaches like Brandi may not be enough to save the entire structure of the high school inter-scholastic sports program from collapsing in California. It has been estimated that high schools will lose 57 percent of their budgets, and athletic programs not only will then be unable to afford coaches at any price, but probably won't be able to afford uniforms or even balls.

Jack Burgett, another dedicated Jefferson High coach, is working frantically to hedge his bets for his beloved football program by attempting to get the community — particularly local merchants — involved in financial support for the Jeff football program.

FOR EXAMPLE, he recently induced Angelo Massagli of Massagli Motors to kick in with a healthy donation, and Burgett hopes that that's only the beginning.

He knows, though, that it's going to be a rough road because "There are few people willing to financially support high school athletics.

"In today's society," says Daly City's version of the Angry Young Man, "most people care about and reward the misfits, the non-doers, the underachievers and the criminals. No one seems ready to help the doers, the worker, the achiever."

AMONG those achievers is the Jefferson badminton team, mentioned here a couple of weeks ago as the most unpublicized high school athletic dynasty on the Peninsula, being undefeated for five consecutive years and in its way to their sixth straight NPL title.

Space limitations prevented a rundown of the members of the team, so herewith is a correction of the slight:

Seniors: Janet Liston, Lisa Atwood, Susan Saunders, Donna Arthurs, Lori Golden, Rosita Pereda, Maria Valavanis, Lannette Chiradio, Lorna Beccaria.

Juniors: Lori Romero, Monina Lipat, Florence Escolta.

Sophomores: Shari Dilley, Tani Empleo, Celeste Loyold, Diane Saunders, Marissa Zito.

Freshmen: Cathy Ryan, Charlene Chervellera.

WHEN PEOPLE talk about the Giants' chances of contending for the flag, they always talk in terms of Los Angeles and Cincinnati as being their only competition, but to be specific about it, the Giants' real competition is the weaker teams — San Diego, Atlanta, Chicago and others of their ilk. Over the past few years the Giants have more than held their own against the Dodgers and the Reds, as well as the eastern powers, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

The key to the Giants' success will be their ability to get "up" for the weaklings. If they can do that, whip the hell out of the mediocre teams, they won't have to worry that much about LA and Cincy.

Look it up. In any sport, the truly great teams were those that consistently could kill the weak sisters. They then had to only hold their own against the contenders.

ONE THING that worries me now that didn't particularly during spring training is the Giants bench. As the season opened they had to give up Mario Guerrero to the A's as the "player to be named later" in the Vida Blue deal. In doing so, they lost a man who had sparkled defensively at shortstop during spring training; who is also a capable second baseman and adequate third baseman, and who hit over .280 for the past two seasons in the American League.

Should semi-rookie Johnny Lemaster falter or get hurt, the Giants have as potential replacements only Tom Heintzelman, who is more a second baseman, anyway, and who at age 30 now, failed to make it with the Cardinals during two previous cups of coffee; Vic Harris, who is a second baseman by trade and has played only rarely in the majors at shortstop; and Rob Andrews, another second baseman who has rarely played shortstop in his career.

And when the Giants released outfielder Randy Elliott to cut down to the new 24-man roster limit, they cut not only a competent pinch-hitter but their last reserve outfielder.

RIGHT NOW the only "outfielders" the Giants have beyond their steady trio of Terry Whitfield, Larry Herndon and Jack Clark, are infielders Skip James, a first baseman, who in the minors did only emergency fill-in duty in the outfield; Harris, and Darrell Evans, who already has a regular job as the third baseman.

Giants pinch-hitting could now be woefully weak, especially in contrast with last year's pinch-hitting crew, which was just about the best in the majors. From the left side they have only the unproven James and Harris, a switch-hitter with a .220 lifetime BA who was one of their weaker bats off the bench last season. From the right side, the only formidable weapon they seem to have is Mike Ivie. After him, it's Andrews, Heintzelman and Harris again.

For you trivia buffs, Herndon may have set an oral syntax record during a pre-game radio interview during spring training with Joe Angel. Herndon used the expression, "you know," more than 60 times.

The funny thing is, I don't think Angel knew!

WHO'S THE genius who said that home run hitters HAVE to strike out a lot?

The year (1937) that Joe DiMaggio hit 46 homeruns to grab the first of his two homer titles he struck out only 37 times, which actually represented the second highest total in his big league career. The year before, in his rookie year, he struck out all of 39 times.

When DiMag led the league in homers for the second time in 1948, with his second highest total 39, he struck out only 30 times.

In fact, DiMaggio hit 361 career homers and K'd only 369 times. In seven of his 13 years in the bigs he struck out fewer times than homers he hit, and three of the six times he struck out more often than times he homered were in his last three seasons.

Even the great Ted Williams struck out 42 percent more often than he homered.

TAG END: Everything has been so quiet over in Oakland concerning the transfer of the A's that one has to believe that something serious is brewing. Nothing at all happened when everybody was talking.

Camino Back in a Familiar Spot

By JOHN MURPHY

El Camino High's baseball team is now in a familiar position in the North Peninsula League race — alone in first place.

Colt fans have grown accustomed to seeing their teams in the top spot after three straight Region I championships.

It hasn't come as easily for this year's El Camino team, and it might not last long. But don't bet against it.

The Colts might just find themselves playing in the Region I playoffs again this year if they continue to play the way that they did in Friday's 9-2 win over host Terra Nova.

Terra Nova, which was tied with El Camino at 5-1 coming in, outhit the Colts 8-6, but Camino played steady defensive ball behind Frank Vasquez and took advantage of numerous walks and errors to post its sixth straight victory.

The Tigers jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning on Steve McDonald's base-clearing double over the right fielder's head. But El Camino combined two walks, an error, a double by Jeff Pettigrew and three wild pitches to go ahead 3-2 after four innings.

Things got even worse for Terra Nova in the fifth inning as Camino's Mark Evans and Merlin Nelson led off with base hits, and Dana Ynostroza was hit by a pitch. Evans came home on a wild pitch, and then Pettigrew walked to reload the bases.

An infield error plated EC's sixth run as the bases remained full. But Terra Nova appeared to be out of the inning when Paul Domeiconi sent a potential double play ball to second baseman Dan Ernst. TN got the lead man at second, but Ron Doane's hard slide into the bag sent shortstop Dave Bancroft tumbling, and two more runs came in.

The merciless Colts then added single runs in the sixth and seventh to win going away.

Vasquez went all the way to notch the win for the Colts. Mike Diaz also went the distance in losing his second consecutive NPL outing.

In other NPL encounters South City's Jim Dunn three-hit Half Moon Bay for 2-0 win at Orange Park and host Westmoor blanked Serramonte 8-0.

Dunn stuck out six and walked three in posting his third consecutive league victory. HMB's Dale Hamilton also pitched well, giving up four hits, while throwing only 50 pitches in six innings.

But South City scored unearned runs in the fifth and sixth innings to up its league slate to 5-1, a half game off the pace set by league-leading El Camino.

Dave Maxion paced Westmoor's win with three hits, two RBI's and a pair of stolen bases (the Rams swiped eight bases in the game). Brian Jones got the win for Westmoor (now 4-3.).

Rams Clinch Swim Tie

Westmoor High's swim team clinched at least a tie for the North Peninsula League title with a 116-26 win over visiting Jefferson Friday.

The win gives the Rams a perfect 5-0 slate, with only backmarker El Camino left on the schedule Tuesday. (In other NPL meets, South City beat Half Moon Bay 87-31 and Oceana downed El Camino 93-56.)

Bill Beedle and Tom Wisherop were double winners for Westmoor. Tami Stuckert and Peter Chai also won for the Rams.

Dennis Byron and Marcus Nava each won twice in the Warriors' walkaway win over HMB. Doug Dawkins was a double winner for Oceana in its win over El Camino.

One Really Tough Day in School

By TERRY DAVENPORT

Wearing wigs made of mops and toting lunches in baskets, fifth and sixth graders in Lynn Astengo and Kathy Scullion's classes at Spring Valley School in Millbrae took a trip back 200 years.

The youngsters spent a day recently learning the lessons and culture of 1776. They discovered that children in Colonial times had a harsher life then they have today.

Those who usually were bused to school had to walk. They arrived to find their classrooms in semi-darkness, since electricity didn't exist in 1776. Boys and girls sat on different sides of the rooms with their hands neatly folded.

The children used quills to write sums and spelling words on horn books which they had made in an earlier class project. Four of five times a day, they had to recite the "Dutiful Child's Promise:"

I will fear God and honour the king.
I will honour my Father and Mother.
I will obey my Superiors.
I will submit to my Elders.
I will love my Friends.
I will hate no Man.
I will forgive my Enemies and pray to God for them
I will as much as in me lies keep all God's holy commandments.

A dreadful fate awaited any child who dared be unruly. Some were forced to sit in a corner wearing a dunce cap and others had to wear signs around their necks proclaiming their sin, such as "He whispers" or "Cheater." Occasionally, Mrs. Astengo and Miss Scullion threatened them with a hickory stick.

During their usual recess time, the boys and girls had to walk in straight lines to a "well," where they dipped their tin cups to get a drink.

At lunch time they ate "sensible" food brought from home in baskets and knapsacks. The food had to be wrapped in cloth napkins because foil wrap and brown bags weren't around 200 years ago.

Perhaps the hardest part of the day was not being able to eat Twinkies.

The girls had to wear floor-length dresses with long sleeves, so that no skin was showing. The boys wore dark trousers or knicker pants and white shirts. Along with their Colonial-style wigs, the girls wore ruffled caps and the boys wore tri-cornered hats.

Highlights of the day included conjugating Latin verbs, singing Colonial songs, drilling on arithmetic problems, a history lesson, readings from Shakespeare and dancing the Virginia Reel.

A number of parents visited the class and were impressed with the authenticity of the props the students used.

Officials Throw Up Their Hands At Receipt of Brown's Urban Plan

By JANET PARKER

There was only mild curiosity on the part of local elected officials this past week as Gov. Brown's complex policy for urban development arrived special delivery at the home of every city council member and supervisor in the state.

San Mateo County leaders were mostly throwing up their hands in disbelief of yet another planning document and tossing the policy to city staff members in hopes of obtaining an explanation.

"It appears, in general, that it is striking at the basic principle of home rule and self-determination," said San Mateo Councilman John Murray at first glance of the policy.

He said he fears the plan signifies "a centralization of power into the state and perhaps the federal government even more than we now are concerned with."

The massive mailing, according to state Office of Planning and Research Director Bill Press, was unprecedented. Several thousand copies of the slick 36-page Urban Strategy for California were mailed.

But, nearly every council member contacted in San Mateo County said they hadn't even glanced at the report yet. Most weren't sure what the report represents. City planners alike said they haven't analyzed the Brown policy yet either.

However, a handful of council members did suggest that city officials will be alarmed when they see precisely what the strategy contains.

Since 1970, the governor of California has been required by legislative mandate to prepare a policy of environmental goals every four years. The first policy — proposed by Gov. Reagan in 1973 — was never adopted, Press said.

Brown adopted his policy on Feb. 9 after hearings were held throughout the state.

Former San Mateo County supervisor Jean Fassler served on the advisory council for the policy preparation.

As of Monday, Press said, all 19 pieces of legislation proposed in the policy had been introduced in the state legislature. The policy proposed — in total — 45 different actions associated with land use.

Actions requiring legislation include a substantial speculative gains tax on profits from the sale of real estate held only a short time and a property tax exemption for industrial and commercial rehabilitation.

Another issue that is sure to spark debate is a proposal for sharing of property and sales taxes among communities in designated districts.

Press said the Office of Planning and Research and several other agencies — including the Association of Bay Area Governments — will be studying those concepts during the next year.

The policy report points out that within San Mateo County, for example, the City of Pacifica raises $138 per capita with a tax rate of $2.12 while Atherton raises $108 per capita with a tax rate of only 54 cents.

"This imbalance is heightened by the local 1.25 percent sales tax," the report states.

"There are serious inequities among local cities today in sales tax," Press related.

Too often, he said, the downstream community suffers the pollution and other ill effects while one jurisdiction reaps all the financial benefits.

Also proposed are a $300 million program for housing rehabilitation and construction, clean water grants and funding for improved transportation.

San Mateo Councilwoman Jane Baker, one of the few familiar with the plan, was a member of a League of California Cities committee that studied it in its initial stages. Sharing sales tax, she said, was a particularly controversial matter.

"If you're in a city that has a lot of sales tax and is depending upon it, it would be difficult to continue services if it were suddenly shared," she declared.

Considering the public outcry against increased property taxes, sales taxes become more important all the time, she said.

Mrs. Baker and Murray expressed concern that the policy will increase the amount of control Sacramento has over the cities.

"This may be planning from the top down," Mrs. Baker said.

"The mere fact of a proposal for sharing sales tax is a step in that direction," Murray added.

Press denied that the policy is an attempt to give the state more control over land-use planning.

"If you read this strategy carefully, you see there is not one iota of increased state control," Press contended. "The essence of the strategy is to direct existing authorities toward a more compact form of urban development."

Women's Self-Esteem

Samuel Chandler

Afton Day grew up wanting above all else to fulfill the role of wife and mother. But marriage and motherhood did not come into her life until after she secured an education and launched herself into a successful career. When she became a mother and a housewife she found, alas, that she lacked the skills to make a smooth adjustment.

She found that being queen of the diaper pail and the scrub brush did not satisfy her need for "the satisfactions, acclaim and attention" found in an interesting career. She found herself wanting to stand up and scream "Won't someone respect my professional accomplishments? Wouldn't somebody like to see my credentials?" This filled her with "a thick layer of guilt and admitted failure on top."

FROM HER association with the women of her church, she learned that many of the women of today experience the same frustrations as they move in and out of careers in the world and careers in the home. She learned that most of them are subject to "nagging guilt and self-abasement," which are negative reactions bringing much unhappiness.

Being highly intelligent, Ms. Day realized that her need for the acclaim that "office life" had given her was pushing her into a pit of low self-esteem. She realized that "Not until I learned to be comfortable with myself could I be happy — as a housewife — without the praise of others."

She writes "First, I had to be realistic about my positive attributes. Whether or not my accomplishments had been based on a need for praise and attention, they were still accomplishments. I had to believe that I had made significant contributions in the past, and still had the same abilities."

THE BOOK "How To Be Your Own Best Friend" by Mildred Newman and Bernard Berkowitz !Random, 1971. $4.95) helped to shape Ms. Day's thinking. She found in the Newman-Berkowitz book a concept that said "One fundamental example (of how to be a better friend to yourself) is to meet yor own expectations."

Satisfaction, Newman and Berkowitz write, starts with attitude. Too many people "expect happiness to happen to them. They don't see it's something they have to do . . . They don't have the patience to learn to operate themselves."

"The first thing is to realize that we've probably been looking in the wrong place." Thus Newman and Berkowitz write, "The source is not outside yourself; it is within. Most of us haven't begun to tap our own potential; we're operating way below capacity. We must realize that the kingdom is in us; we already have the key. It is as if we're waiting for permission to start living fully."

THE STARTING place is in learning to love and nurture ourselves. As Ms. Day learned, starting is as simple as a housekeeper saying "I will do a batch or two of laundry every day until I have a system that keeps me ahead of the dirty clothes," instead of saying "Look at these dirty clothes, I ought to be a better housekeeper."

Over and over Newman and Berkowitz point out that happy people — regardless of their situations — have learned that life can be rich in spite of the fact that "It is not a picnic — or a rose garden. The world is not run for our benefit. There is no escaping the human condition, which involves pain and difficulty and loss. But we can bring everything we have to bear on the challenges life presents and make the most of what it offers us."

Newman and Berkowitz state in bold terms "If we liberate ourselves from our fantasies and learn where our resources lie, a whole world is waiting to be explored.

"How To Be Your Own Best Friend" has been called "popular psychology" and "mass magic." Yet it has been widely read and highly acclaimed by many who have followed its precepts.

Superintendent Denies Rumor Serramonte High Will be Closed

A persistent rumor that Serramonte High School will be closed at the end of the next school year has been denied by Jefferson Union High School Superintendent Floyd Gonella.

"We have no plans at all to close any of the schools, but we will look at plans to use schools in different ways," Gonella said.

The superintendent said Serramonte, as well as the other four traditional high schools in Daly City and Pacifica, will be considered as future locations for the district offices and centralized programs.

Thornton High School, the district's small continuation facility, will not be considered for additional uses, he said.

Gonella said the district's declining enrollment has made officials certain that "in the next three years, we will be using schools differently."

He forecasts that the first new use of school sites will be to house the district offices, now located in a suite of rooms in the Westlake Building in Daly City's Westlake Shopping Center.

He said a move of the district offices to a school site could be as soon as the end of the next school year.

The district is paying $23,124 per year to rent the Westlake offices for staff functions. Before the district offices were located in Westlake in 1957, the administrative functions were located at Jefferson High School.

The superintendent said the district offices would be expected to take up "only certain sections and wings of a school. That would not mean that a regular educational program could not continue at the high school."

However, Gonella acknowledged that declining enrollment probably will force realignment of boundaries within the next three years.

He said district enrollment, now 6,861, is declining at the rate of 200 to 250 students a year. He expects that trend to continue for several years, until enrollment is down to 6,000.

"It would be professionally irresponsible for the superintendent not to take necessary action in regard to declining enrollment," Gonella said.

The superintendent has formed a task force to study "what kind of process is involved to deal with declining enrollment," He said the task force, composed of the district's managment team, will have more information by fall.

Gonella said the rumored closure of Serramonte probably had its genesis from observations of the geographical boundaries of the district.

"You look at the extremes of the district and Serramonte winds up being in the middle," he said. "I think with the widespread fear of schools closing, people tend to zero in on such things."

However, Gonella said that he does not necessarily agree that Serramonte is the most logical location for district offices or special programs.

"Technically, one could say that central offices should be at a central location," he said, "but the district offices could be anywhere. We have good freeways.

"Right now the central office is five minutes from Jefferson and 20 minutes from Terra Nova," he added. "It could just as easily be 20 minutes from Jefferson and five from Terra Nova."

Gonella said the task force is working on a "preliminary review of declining enrollment and its effect on curriculum, personnel and facilities. These three factors are closely weaved together."

Curriculum is an aspect that will be studied closely for ways to better use a school site, he noted.

For instance, he pointed out, the team is looking at subjects such as advanced languages which show declining enrollment. If such courses are not utilized well at five schools, why not use one school as a central language center and bus in students?

Other courses for which such a plan could be used include business, science and industrial arts.

By creating, for example, a master industrial arts complex at one school, the district could pool equipment for a better program, he said.

Gonella conceded that pooling of courses would mean a need for less staff, but he said, "I don't see any layoffs of our regular staff.

"We'll be hiring less and less staff and some temporary staff will not be returning," he added.

"Hopefully, we can solve much of the problem by attrition," the superintendent said.

Gonella said a major problem is convincing the district's residents that declining enrollment and its resulting fiscal limitations are real problems that call for solutions that may not please many.

IN APPRECIATION

The 1977 head coach for the Sacred Heart High School varsity football team in San Francisco was Daly City Police Officer Edmund J. Cota. As part of the arrangements allowing Cota to be available to work with the team, Chief David A. Hansen, at Cota's request, assigned him to work the midnight to 8 a.m. shift. These would have been the only hours he could have worked at his first job and allowed ample time for his coaching responsibilities to the team. The Sacred Heart varsity team was aware of this cooperation and to show its appreciation the team recently presented a plaque to the chief which read "To David A. Hansen — Thank you for your help and cooperation with the Sacred Heart football program from the Sacred Heart varsity football team 1977." At the presentation were, left to right: Cota; Sacred Heart team captains Dave Broder, Tim McCue and Brian Tuohy; and Hansen.

SSF Services Center Appeals to San Bruno

The Neighborhood Services Center, a South San Francisco-based social services agency, is to appear before the San Bruno City Council April 24 to ask for an allocation of nearly $4,000.

The center was denied a $10,000 funding request April 10 by the council for its operation the second half of the fiscal year 1977-78, Jan. 1 through June 30.

At last year's budget sessions, the council decided to fund the center for $20,000 for the fiscal year. The council agreed to pay half the funds initially and requested that center administrators report back to the council at the end of six months as to the type of services it has provided San Bruno before allocating the second portion.

That review was to have been completed prior to Dec. 31.

However, on April 10, the council denied the second $10,000. The center's San Bruno branch, at the Methodist Church of San Bruno, was closed immediately.

Ms. Ortensia Lopez, executive director of the center, said Friday that when she left a San Bruno council meeting a month earlier (following a March 13 meeting at which the council granted the center the second $10,000, on a 2-1-2 vote), "we thought in good faith that the money was appropriated. It wasn't until two weeks later that we found out the funding was in jeopardy."

She said the center continued to operate its San Bruno satellite branch from Jan. 1 through March 13, assuming the money would be forthcoming.

"The council continued delaying and delaying while we kept providing services. We still had our overhead costs," she said. Ms. Lopez estimated it cost the Neighborhood Services Center about $3,700 to operate in San Bruno for that time period.

"If the money doesn't come through," Ms. Lopez added, "I guess we'll have to look toward fund-raisers to get it."

San Bruno's denial of the funds came after a lengthy interrogation of Ms. Lopez by Councilmen Doug Dawkins and John Barnard. Both asked her how, with the number of social service agencies available in San Mateo County, the Neighborhood Services Center could justify its existence.

"San Mateo County identifies us as a model agency for information and referral services," she said. "Then to have someone say that we are duplicating services is upsetting.

"The San Bruno City Council needs to come and talk to us and see what we're doing. They need to come out and see our operation."

Ms. Lopez also said that since she became executive director of the center last October, "we've made a much greater emphasis on accountability. Our contractors recognize this and continue to fund us."

BIG SELECTION

Fiesta, with front wheel drive, imported from Germany, is at your Ford Dealer now! It has already outsold every new car nameplate ever introduced in Europe (based on a comparison of sales in the first 16 months).

We think you'll be impressed by this little car. It offers advanced European engineering, quickness, maneuverability and surprising roominess. Fiesta was designed to perform on the high-speed European autobahns, and to be quick and maneuverable in city driving. In Ford tests, California emissions equipped models did 0-50 MPH in an average of 9.1 seconds. And Fiesta's 4-passenger design has created more back seat legroom than any other imported or domestic car of its kind.

So test-drive a Fiesta at your Ford Dealer and see why we say, your ship just came in!

Phone Call Leads to Jail Heroin Search

A search of the county jail in Redwood City Wednesday afternoon turned up several packets believed to contain heroin and a syringe made out of a shampoo bottle, Sheriff's Sgt. Peter M. Mirosnkoff reported today.

Mirosnkoff said a surprise search of one tank of the jail was ordered after Sheriff's Sgt. Janeice D. Gray received an anonymous telephone call from a man who reported that he had been incarcerated in the jail and an inmate in an adjoining tank was selling heroin to other prisoners.

The caller also informed Gray that the man had been brought into the jail from Northern District Municipal Court and that he appeared to have been selling the narcotics to other passengers in the sheriff's bus, according to Mirosnkoff. He said the caller identified the man allegedly selling the drugs as a man named "Michael."

Gray ordered inmates in the tank removed immediately and separated from other prisoners while a search was made, according to Mirosnkoff.

He said three of the men were taken to interview rooms to have urine tests to determine if they had taken any heroin. The man identified by the caller was ordered back from Northern District Municipal Court, Mirosnkoff reported.

A search was conducted of the tank by Gray, Sgt. Dave Lynch and Deputies Ronald V. Ferretti, Allen Bernstein, Raymond L. Richardson and John F. Robertson.

The search turned up small packets containing white powder in the personal possession of four prisoners, Ferretti reported.

The man brought back to the jail was identified by Mirosnkoff as Michael J. Finch, 22, of Sydney, Australia, originally booked for transporting narcotics for sale.

Ferretti said that he and Lt. Harvey Rutenberg found a packet containing drugs in Finch's possession and said they accused him of smuggling about an ounce of heroin into the jail.

Finch was re-booked for bringing narcotics into the jail and being under the influence of a narcotic, as were the three other inmates: Richard Ray Jones, 24, of 840 Sweeney Ave., Redwood City, originally booked for burglary and unlawful possession of narcotics; Rufo C. Sandragan, 29, of 607 Sylvan St., Daly City, booked previously for robbery, and Benjamin V. DeSoto, 27, of San Francisco, jailed originally for drunken driving.

A syringe made out of a shampoo bottle with a hypodermic needle in the cap, and a plastic pill dispenser, were found hidden on a book shelf, Mirosnkoff reported.

The search was unrelated to an incident Monday in which a prisoner was taken to Chope Community Hospital after he apparently accidentally overdosed himself with heroin, according to Mirosnkoff.

Good morning, good cooks.

Are you watching the amount of saturated fats your children eat? And seeing that they eat more foods high in polyunsaturates? If not, you should be, according to medical authorities who now believe that atherosclerosis and heart disease may be the end result of conditions that begin in childhood.

Recent studies have found warning signs of coronary disease, such as degenerative changes and fatty deposits, in the arteries of very young children, and high blood cholesterol levels in teens. Although many factors are involved, it is believed that modifying the diets of young people may help reduce the risk of heart disease in later life.

The goal is a diet low in foods containing saturated fat and cholesterol (such as dairy products and fatty meats) and higher in polyunsaturated fats (the type found in vegetable oils, fish and poultry). This type of dietary modification has been shown to be effective in decreasing high blood cholesterol levels.

Planning a low-saturated fat diet need not be a problem. For example, corn oil margarine can be used in place of other shortenings in your favorite recipes. Or start with special ones like this tuna-macaroni casserole created with child appeal. You'll notice that skim milk is used in place of whole milk in the sauce to further reduce saturated fat content.

TUNARONI CASSEROLE

2 tablespoons unsifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
2 cups skim milk
2 cups cooked elbow macaroni
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes, drained
2 cans (7 ounces each) tuna, drained
2 tablespoons corn oil margarine, melted
1¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs

Combine 2 tablespoons flour, ½ tespoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and ⅛ teaspoon curry powder. Add 2 tablespoons vegetable oil; stir until smooth. Add ¼ cup chopped onion and 2 tablespoons parsley. Cook, stirring occasionally until onion is tender. Gradually stir in 2 cups skim milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Mix sauce with 2 cups cooked elbow macaroni, 1 can tomatoes, and 2 cans tuna. Plase in 1½ quart baking dish.

Combine 2 tablespons melted margarine and ¼ cup bread crumbs. Sprinkle on top. Bake at 375 degrees F. about 35 minutes.

YSB Names Interim Director

Margaret Taylor, a senior counselor for the Pacifica Youth Service Bureau, has been appointed interim director, effective May.

Ms. Taylor, who currently is paid $16,000, received a $2,000 raise to assume administration duties during half of her time. She will continue to counsel youths during her remaining hours.

The board also decided at its Wednesday meeting to give Carol Dahlman, a secretary at the YSB, a $100-per-month raise, since she will be assuming additional duties.

Pacifica Councilman Mark Savage will continue as YSB director through April. He submitted his resignation when the state attorney general ruled that it is "incompatible" for him to run the YSB at the same time he serves on the council. The council partially funds the YSB.

A testimonial dinner for Savage is planned for May 13.

At the meeting the board received copies of claim Dr. Dorothy Zietz has filed against the Youth Service bureau.

Mrs. Ziets, a licensed marriage, family and child counselor practicing in San Francisco, claims she is owed compensation for a vandalism reduction proposal she prepared.

In her claim she charges that she, Savage and Dr. Rudie Tretten (a YSB board member and trustee of the Laguna Salada Elementary School District) entered into a contract in 1977 to obtain funds for a project that was to be administrated by the California Youth Authority.

Mrs. Zietz alleges that the three agreed she would receive $10,500 and that Savage and Tretten would get smaller amounts of the $27,650 grant they sought.

When the CYA rejected the proposal, Savage said he submitted another proposal requesting $17,832 in funding that eliminated the portion Mrs. Zietz wrote.

The CYA began funding the second proposal July 1, 1977. It was scheduled to continue a full year, but the CYA cut off funding last week when it learned Savage had resigned from the YSB.

She said she did not learn the CYA had funded the revised proposal until this January.

GIRL SCOUTING

DAISIES will be incorporated into the theme of the annual Daly City Girl Scout Association spring luncheon, scheduled for May 25 at the Southern Table, 975 El Camino Real at Westborough Boulevard in South San Francisco.

"Honoring our first leader, Daisy Low, will be the theme of the luncheon which will focus on local women working with troops.

Year pin recipients will include a 35-year pin to Mrs. Hilda Heagney; 30-year pins to Mrs. Margaret Damon, leader of Troop 13 for 30 years, and her daughter, Mrs. Susan Bacon; a 25-year pin to Mrs. Dolores Riggs; 20-year pins to Mesdames Mary Ann Dale and Zella Heneise, and a 15-year pin to Mrs. Norma Young.

Ten-year pins will be awarded to Mesdames Bunne Pardini, Salley Raeta, Joan Passanisi and Misses Michelle Rushton, Karen Dale, Nanette Futrell, Michyle Lapedis, Sue McDowell and Theresa Clark.

Additional year pin requests may be made to association chairman Mrs. Mary Ann Dale.

Reservations for the luncheon should be sent to Mrs. Caroline Futrell, 51 Baldwin, Daly City 94015. Luncheon will be $4 per person.

Keynote speaker will be Mrs. Nan Wentworth, who will discuss troop leadership and council goals. Mrs. Wentworth is a member of the San Francisco Bay Area Girl Scout Council board of directors and serves the northern San Mateo County area as field coordinator.

In making year pin requests to Mrs. Dale, adult members may count registered years as a Girl Scout. All Senior Scouts who will receive 10-year pins this year will be listed in the luncheon program although girls may elect to receive their pins from their troop.

SPECIAL Olympics Lives Up to Its Name

By VERA GRAHAM

For the first time this year, even 3-year-olds will be out there competing, experiencing the joy of winning, or learning the courage of losing — and being cheered by the crowd.

Anyone who needs proof that there are some fine people in this world, anyone who need's a heart-warming experience, will find it in the Special Olympics. It will be held Saturday for the 10th year at Mills High School. The event, attended a banquet or a dance, won a medal or even lost in a close finish.

And the experts who were convinced that mentally retarded children couldn't stand the disappointment of losing a race or of being taken far from home were proven wrong.

Since that time, Special Olympics organizations have been formed in every state.

In San Mateo County, besides PARCA's efforts, businessmen join to provide for special needs. This year they have each contributed $25 in the sponsor-an-athlete fund-raiser.

event begins at about 9:30 a.m.

The 200 young people who will be competing need to hear the sound of a cheering and encouraging crowd, sponsors point out.

Some in the crowd may be moved to tears — but they will be tears of pride and joy, and the recognition that because people care, the retarded, once forgotten, are now remembered and helped to reach the maximum of their capabilities.

Most of the competing young people will represent Los Amigos School in Menlo Park and Palos Verdes School in San Bruno. Both accommodate the trainable retarded. Others will come from schools which provide for the educable retarded and from various workshops.

There is an inspirational oath that the participants vow: "Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt."

In expanding the Olympics, its sponsoring agency, the Peninsula Association for Retarded Children and Adults, has opened the lists and added competitive sports for preschool tots. They will be racing their tricycles and running a 25-yard dash.

Another new event is Frisbee-throwing for accuracy and distance.

No one loses. All win T-shirts and participation medals. Additional medals are given for first, second and third places.

Following San Mateo County's Olympics, 35 to 40 participants will be selected to enter the state competition at the University of California at Los Angeles in June. If a consistent winner has participated for three years in the state event, someone else is given the opportunity to compete.

San Mateo city and county officials and some noted athletes will be participating in the event.

It will open with the excitement and pageantry of an international Olympics. There will be a parade and speeches with flags flying and bands playing. There will be medal presentations at the closing ceremonies, special entertainment and big-name athletes there to give a hand.

Many people will be giving a strong, helping hand in the Special Olympics.

Coaches from Mills High School and students from Skyline College are volunteering their time as coaches. There are other helpers from schools, colleges, community groups.

For each Special Olympics participant, a constant companion is assigned for the day.

Sports offer a very special opportunity for the retarded, who must face seemingly endless frustrations and failures in some of their efforts, Olympics spokesmen said, and through sports, they learn to develop self-esteem and increase their confidence. They push to the outer limits of their capabilities, physical, mental and social.

Watching the faces not only of the participants, but of their friends, family, teachers, coaches, helpers, and the scores of volunteers on the field is an inspiration. These are caring people.

They know the success the of the Special Olympics experience often is carried over into their classroom activities, their home, and ultimately their work.

Special Olympics was organized in 1968 by Eunice Kennedy Shriver under the sponsorship of the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation. That first year, over 1,000 mentally retarded children from thoughout the United States participated in the event held at Soldier Field in Chicago. Most had never been away from home, traveled in an airplane, competed in an athletic

Master of ceremonies for San Mateo County's Special Olympics will be Duane "Doc" Mattison, director of the county's park and recreation department.

The parade, led by the colorguard of the U.S. Naval Reserve in San Bruno, will begin at 10 a.m.

McDonalds will provide hamburgers and drinks for the participants.

While the local Olympics are supported on a local basis, the Kennedy Foundation helps to pay for the state meets and for the 1979 international meet, to be held this year in New York.

The Fidelity Savings and Loan firm on Third Avenue in San Mateo currently has a photo exhibit of Special Olympics.

In 1968, Mrs. Otto Nelsen of Millbrae was the mainspring, helping to promote both the county and state Special Olympics. Continuing the effort this year are PARCA members, whose president is Mrs. Herbert Bates. Mrs. Warren Price of Daly City is the coordinator for the Special Olympics. Volunteers coordinator is Olga Russell of the National Association for Retarded Citizens (offices at 1838 El Camino Real in Burlingame)

Spokesmen for PARCA have noted that while the schools provide valuable education, the physical challenge of sports is an important part of becoming healthy. It also promotes a sense of self-esteem, and improves family relationships and physical appearance and acceptance in the community.

The 300,000 participants in the country's Special Olympics represent only 15 percent of the total number of retarded, leaving over 2.5 million with little outside involvement.

Locally, PARCA and its 400 members have been instrumental in serving as an advocacy group to seek out the needs for special programs and services. Once getting these programs into motion, PARCA turns them over to a local agency.

A College of Notre Dame program was launched by a PARCA board member who recognized the need for education in sensory motor-training. The board member's child is now in a state hospital, but scores of other handicapped youngsters have benefited from the program. It also serves to train students interested in a career working with the retarded.

The state has given PARCA a grant to coordinate the Respite service for five counties. Those interested in such service must be 18 years of age, undertake a week's training class, earn a Red Cross life-saving certificate and be willing to spend time meeting with parents of the retarded.

When the Special Olympics ends Saturday afternoon, those who have helped and participated, and those who have helped fill the grandstands will know their support is well-placed and cherished.

SSF to Review Parking Law

The South San Francisco City Council decided Wednesday night it will review the city's parking ordinance with respect to lanes and alleys.

The thrust of the review, the council said, will be to increase regulations to allow Police Chief James Datzman to cite persons who park near front entrances of homes built on the lanes.

"In the alleys and lanes there are many properties built right on the street," said Councilwoman Roberta Teglia. "People park in front of front doors, creating a safety hazard.

"I would like to see that ordinance expanded so we can cite those parking in front of a doorway to a residence."

Datzman indicated that that particular problem "is one that never should occur. But usually people who are parking there are the residents themselves."

The chief said his department is aware of the parking problem on the lanes and in alleys, but said restricting parking on both sides "would be taking care of the problem in the lanes and transferring that problem out to the streets."

The council earlier had asked Datzman and the city staff to look into the possibility of requiring on-street parking permits for vehicles parked within the city. That concept, however, appeared to be ruled out Wednesday night.

"In most cases where cities have gone to permit parking," Datzman explained, "it is because of commuter-related problems."

Datzman cautioned the council that before a permit parking ordinance could be developed, much preliminary work would be needed. The city, he said, would have to establish:

- The community's preference.
- Whether the ordinance would be communitywide.
- Whether there should be a permit fee, such as the $10 charged by the City of San Francisco.
- Whether overnight guests parking on the street would be required to obtain a $1 temporary permit.
- Which city department would handle the paperwork and the daily complaints.
- If a resident buys a permit for an area that already is overcrowded, whether the city still would allow further permits for that area.
- How enforcement would be handled.

Planning Director William Costanzo said the city would face many difficulties if it enacted such an ordinance. "Ninety-nine percent of the cars we are talking about are owned by the people living in the neighborhood or by visiting friends. We have no commuter-related problem.

"Over the years," Costanzo added, "we need to increase the amount of off-street parking."

Councilman Terry Mirri admitted that "the problems generally are in the older parts of the city where we have mixed zoning. Wherever we have multiple-family dwellings mixed with older, single-family homes, we have this problem."

Panel Debates ABAG Value

Fight the monster from within or tell the federal government to "stuff it?"

Key figures in San Mateo County's development and building industries — all of them with a lot at stake — heard a panel expound the merits of both approaches to the Bay Area Environmental Management Plan on Wednesday.

They also heard expressions of fear that the controversial land use controls, now removed from the core of the plan and placed in an addendum, are far from dead.

Despite dissatisfaction with the massive, far-reaching EMP, panelists urged San Mateo County to maintain its ties with the Association of Bay Area Governments, the agency leading the EMP preparation.

Pacifica City Manager Don Weidner, one of the panelists, said San Mateo County will have no voice in the EMP if the county drops out of ABAG.

The Pacifica-Half Moon Bay Board of Realtors is urging the county to drop out of ABAG.

"If we eliminate ABAG, I guarantee you we'll get picked off one by one by a lot of state and federal regulatory agencies just waiting for the chance," Weidner related.

About 70 persons — mostly real estate agents, business leaders and builders — gathered in Burlingame to find out if San Mateo County can survive the ABAG plan.

The much-debated plan was prepared with a $4.3 million federal grant and outlines steps toward cleaning up Bay Area air and water. It is aimed at meeting federal laws which require clean-up procedures over the next 23 years.

The ABAG Executive Board will consider the final plan next Thursday, and it will then be forwarded to the ABAG General Assembly on June 10 for a final meeting that is expected to be tumultuous.

Weidner, who was an early critic of the demanding federal laws, said passive resistance has been successful in political history. It can be well applied in government, he said.

"I'm beginning to hear a lot of sentiment to tell the state and the feds to stuff it," Weidner said.

But, San Francisco land-use attorney Joseph Joiner said the ABAG plan is not that simple.

"The problem is you're not just dealing with bureaucrats'" Joiner said. The Bay Area is up against powerful environmental organizations like the Sierra Club that have the money and the time to take the cities and the counties to court. And, he said, there are sympathetic judges who will rule in favor of the environment.

One real estate agent questioned why local control appears to being eroded when everyone seems to be in favor of it.

The problem is that there are 90 representatives to the ABAG General Assembly — all council members and supervisors — and many of those are environmentalists more concerned about saving the white-haired mouse, according to county Council of Mayors Chairwoman Marguerite Leipzig.

She said that when the funding for the plan preparation fell into ABAG's hands, it was a matter of economic survival.

"They grabbed this grant and now they are thriving," she said. "We are stuck with ABAG at the present time."

Another problem, Mrs. Leipzig said, is that the ABAG staff is fulltime while the people trying to understand the EMP, the politicians who must vote on it June 10, are only part-time.

Weidner said that in many ways, state and federal environmental cleanup laws have been successful including making the San Francisco Bay swimmable and fishable once again.

"On the other hand, it would appear that we don't know when to stop," Weidner added. Everyday there's another call from someone who wants the public to protect his "hobbyhorse," he contended.

After more than a year of debate, the EMP Task Force removed land-use controls from the plan and placed them in a section for further study two months ago.

But, Charles Kinney, general counsel for the Associated Building Industry, said that's not good enough.

Kinney expressed fears that the Environmental Protection Agency, the final authority on the plan, will enforce those controls if they are mentioned at all.
